Sandi D'Atillio To Retire from David Role & Co. After a Storied 49 1/2-Year Career

FOXBOROUGH, MA – September 17, 2025 – It is with mixed emotions that David Role & Co., INC announces the retirement of Sandi D'Atillio, a beloved and foundational member of the team. Sandi will be stepping away from her role after a remarkable 49 and a half years of dedicated service to the company and the electrical industry.

Sandi began her career at David Role & Co., INC in 1976 and quickly became an integral part of the team. As an expert in Customer Service and Order Entry, her deep knowledge and unwavering commitment to excellence helped shape the company's reputation for outstanding support. Over the decades, Sandi's voice became a familiar and trusted presence to thousands of electrical distributor salespeople and manufacturing partners. Through countless phone calls and in-person interactions at the Role offices, she built lasting relationships and earned the respect and admiration of all who had the pleasure of working with her.

Beyond her official duties, Sandi was the unofficial company historian. Her vast institutional knowledge and vivid memories provided a unique and invaluable link to the company's past, helping to preserve its legacy and guide its future. She was a mentor to new employees and a source of wisdom for long-time colleagues.

"Sandi's contributions to the company are immeasurable," said Chuck Role, President/Owner. "Her dedication, professionalism, and genuine care for our customers and partners set the standard for our entire organization. She wasn't just an employee; she was the heart of our office and a cornerstone of our success. While we will miss her daily presence and her incredible insights, we are so grateful for everything she has given us over these incredible five decades."

Sandi's retirement marks the end of an era for David Role & Co., INC. The entire organization wishes her a happy and well-deserved retirement filled with relaxation and new adventures.
